

NEED ENTRY-LEVEL POST PRODUCTION WORKERS?

Post Production
Training Program

Hire a “Made in NY” Post Production Grad

The “Made in NY” Post Production Training Program is currently seeking employers and productions with open entry-level positions for our graduates.

Our graduates have completed five weeks of training that covers an introduction to post production, job readiness, and industry-standard software for editing, animation, and visual effects. Many graduates have experience in the production industry and are advancing their skills with training in post production. All program graduates are at least 21 years old and residents of New York City.

We will provide a pre-screened, curated shortlist of candidates for a variety of your entry-level roles.

Wage reimbursement is also available. Qualified NYC employers that take part in our work-based learning program and create a training plan for our grads are eligible to receive reimbursement for up to 80% of the employee’s first 280 hours.
